ABOUT

Resume

Katundra Stewart (b. 1987) is an American artist from Bartow, Florida. She enjoys creating art in a representational style to tell personal or inspired stories. As an artist and educator she believes that one should hone their skill to draw or paint and then become expressive and imaginative to show one's unique style.

EDUCATION

She received her art training at Florida Southern College under the art instructor William Otremsky. She also attended the University of South Florida, St. Petersburg where she received her Bachelors of Fine Art in Art with a concentration in Graphic Design. It was later evident that she loved creating portraits and figures and wanted to teach children the artistic skills. In 2012 Stewart was accepted to the University of Florida's Masters in Art Education program, where she learned the skills to build a comprehensive art curriculum and teach it to 21st century art students. In order to excel in her craft Stewart continues her artistic studies.
